I have Compumap 4.0.9.2 Portable I am not using any antivirus as yet. I have been clean install. I would like to know which one to remove as it is stopping my computer to run. Before I have tried all suggestions given by you guys. A: You have deleted the original Compumap (and it's portable variant). The installer for the temporary version overwrites the one you are running. You can remove the temporary version in the following way: Shut down your computer. Start your computer. Wait for the system to boot. In the search window type "msconfig". Open the msconfig program and click on the startup tab. In the list of entries double click on the entry named "Compumap". If it asks you to select the executable you want to run, select its entry. You can then either select the "Remove" button or the "Disable" button to disable the program. Alternatively, you could delete the temporary file to remove the program. To do so, execute the following command from a command prompt:
c:\Users\User\AppData\Local\Temp\compumap_setup_version.exe Remove the file from your hard drive if you want to remove the temporary program completely.
