Pinellas Sports Park Pinellas Sports Park is a 2,600-seat multi-purpose stadium in St. Petersburg, Florida. It is primarily used for high school football and is the home field of the St. Petersburg High School Spartans football team. In addition to being the home of the Spartans, the facility hosts professional and amateur events such as boxing, baseball, and other sporting events. The first event held there was a boxing exhibition bout in March, 1998. The same venue hosted its first professional boxing event on May 15, 1998. The stadium was part of the Hillsborough Sports Complex from 1998 until 2001, when it was renamed Pinellas Sports Park. It was renamed again in 2002 after the city of St. Petersburg purchased and renovated the sports complex and renamed it Downtown Sports Park. The stadium is owned by St. Petersburg Sports Park. Built in 1998, the facility sits in the community of Punta Gorda and is just south of the intersection of Northeast 5th Street and 21st Avenue. It is served by Metropolitan Transit System bus lines. As of 2016, Pinellas Sports Park has hosted one national title game. The stadium has a soccer field, complete with goals, and a field with sports lighting. It is surrounded by baseball, softball, and tennis fields.
