Exiland Backup Professional is one of those applications especially designed to help you protect the integrity of your files by providing you with the means to backup all important data from your local or network drives. User-friendly and comprehensive interface If you are a novice user or have never tried any backup software utilities, you don't need to worry because with the guidance of the built-in wizard and help document you can easily find your way around the program. Versatile program and diversified backup tasks It is possible to select the backup type between incremental, differential, full or synchronized. Having four different methods of backing up data allows you to select the best recovery strategy that best suits your requirements. Furthermore, you can run tasks manually with just a hit of the “Run” button or you can automatically schedule them to run daily, weekly or monthly. Moreover, you can start backing up data at start-up, when shutting down the PC, directly from a remote server using the FTP protocol or once you connected a removable drive. As to efficiently protect your files, you are advised to backup crucial data at least once per working day on a computer other than your own if possible. This is the safest way to preserve data in case your computer breaks down, gets infected or doesn't respond to your commands. Once a backup task is completed a log is generated which can be exported as a text document and sent via e-mail as an attachment. If these report documents take up a lot of space, you are provided with the possibility to compress them as ZIPs. As a conclusion, Exiland Backup Professional is a reliable and handy software solution that offers you a straightforward approach to backing up and restoring data.
